NEW Y.M.H.A. GYMNASIUM TO BE OPENED

Last season the Intermediate basketball team won the City Championship and were invited to play with the M.A.A.A. Reds, Senior Champions, for the right to represent Montreal for the Dominion title. Playing a splendid game, they defeated the M.A.A.A., and thus became Montreal's leading basketball team.

When it was then found that for the coming season, the team, now in senior company, had no adequate gymnasium, Moe Leavitt, the efficient captain of the basketball team, called a meeting of some of the most active members of the Y.M.H.A., and it was decided to ask the board of directors to carry on a drive for funds. Mr. Moe Leavitt was appointed chairman of the drive committee with Mr. M. Goldberg as treasurer, and enough money was raised to commence the building.

The new gymnasium is of brick and steel, and is 68 feet long and 51 feet wide inside. The basketball court is 65 x 35 feet. Collapsible bleachers at the sides will provide a seating capacity for about 350 people. When used for dancing, about 250 couples can be comfortably accommodated. As an auditorium, it can seat 800 people. The gymnasium is well lighted and has a fine heating and ventilating system.

The official opening of the new Y.M.H.A. gymnasium [illegible] Sunday, November 4, at 2.30 p.m. Judge Asche of Worcester, Mass., will [illegible] evening a dance will be held under the direction of the entertainment committee, made up of the following members: J. The gift was made by Mrs. Moses Coviensky, and was placed in the Yeshivah for use amongst the Talmudic scholars.

ACT I: Peter Keppel's Studio, Chelsea. "Peter Puts It Off."
Time: Late Afternoon.

ACT II: Same—the following morning. "The Awakening."

ACT III: Same—Evening of the same day. "Peter Does It Now."

This delightful English comedy was produced in London at St. Martin's Theatre, and was a great success. The plot is quite out of the ordinary, the principal characters involved being Judy, who is frank, clever and impetuous; Peter, whose procrastinations have earned him the nickname of "Put-It-Off-Peter," and Beatrice, who is as uncertain as a weather-vane and whose changeable mind causes a lot of the trouble.

Judy suddenly arrives from Paris to find Beatrice, who is her greatest friend, furiously angry because Peter, to whom she is engaged, has put off their wedding for the third time. Judy also discovers to her alarm that Beatrice is wavering between her loyalty to Peter and a growing attachment for Hugh Cranford, who is taking advantage of Peter's neglect. Judy, knowing Cranford's reputation and fearing that Beatrice may marry him in haste and repent in earnest, decides to "do something" to prevent this and to bring Peter, whom she has never met, to his senses. Judy is not called impetuous for nothing: Within a very brief period she manages to (1) impersonate Trixie O'Farrell, an artists model; (2) to be instrumental in causing Peter to strike his head against the mantlepiece and lose consciousness; (3) to convince him when he regains it within a few hours that three weeks have elapsed and that during the interim they have been married and (4)—most unlooked for contingency—to fall in love with him herself! Nothing that Judy has planned materializes, but "All's Well that Ends Well!"

"Just Like Judy" is a welcome successor to "If Winter Comes" and its initial performance is looked forward to with much interest in theatre-going circles.

Call For Young Men

There are so many young Jewish boys at the Jewish Boys' Club, 218 Simcoe Street, waiting to be organized into various activities that a call is being sent forth for young men who will carry on the work by devoting one evening a week between the hours of 7.30 and 9.30.

Boys who otherwise might be running wild, getting into trouble and wasting their health and mentality are anxious to be helped away from delinquency. The boys meet every night in the week organized into groups of 15 boys, under a mentor, working along the lines of the fourfold program, namely, mental, physical, moral and intellectual work. The boys are divided into groups of Wanderers from the ages of 9 to 11 and Men of David from 12 to 15. There are classes and clubs in printing, photography, dramatic art, debating, stamp collecting and other hobbies, music, story telling and a number of others. There is a fine place to carry on all these activities. The boys are waiting, asking to be organized, under necessary direction.

Of University Avenue Synagogue, chairman-general of the Harvest Festival to be held at the Arcadia, on Wednesday and Thursday, November 7 and 8, for the benefit of the "Y" and the New Talmud Torah, that is in process of erection on Brunswick Avenue.

On Wednesday afternoon, November 7, at 2.30 p.m., Rabbi Siegel will open the Harvest Festival at the Arcadia. At 7 p.m. His Worship Mayor McGuire, along with Rabbi Siegel, will open the Harvest Festival, the greatest Jewish community undertaking for 1923.

Special efforts are being made to make the high tea a success. Expert chefs and cooks have been engaged to prepare the various dishes to be served on the evenings of Wednesday and Thursday, November 7 and 8. Family dinners are being arranged. Patrons will receive a most delicious dinner for a very reasonable price. The Pride of Israel Auxiliary has been especially active to make this high tea a success. Dinner will be served between the hours of 5 and 7.30 each evening.

Another feature of the Harvest Festival will be the Circus Land for children. Mothers will leave their children in the big circus tent where the committee is arranging clowns, games, candy, story-hours, pets, fish ponds and everything that delights the heart of a girl or boy. There will also be toys, picture books and trinkets. During the last week-end, Miss Hilda Narrol visited the various Sunday Schools in the city and asked them to arrange showers of toys and school supplies in aid of the Harvest Festival and Circus Land. Another innovation for the Harvest Festival is the publication of a special programme and information directory with information of the activities of the Harvest Festival, its aims and purpose, information about the booths, and their location, the various entertainments and the time and place.

The Y.W.H.A. is in charge of the Novelty Booth. At a meeting held on Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Bochner on Markham Street, many valuable articles were added to the collection. The Daughters of Israel, at their meeting in the Templars' Hall on Wednesday evening, October 24, were addressed by Mrs. Siegel and Mrs. Till on the Harvest Festival and gave a miscellaneous shower.

On October 30, at the University Avenue Synagogue chambers, the Talmud Torah Auxiliary met to rehearse their part in the Harvest Festival and the grocery shower was a feature.

Building, and that tickets not turned in by 9.30 on that evening will not be counted as votes. This is a special notice directed to committees as well as purchasers of votes who have not cast them so far.

A meeting of the heads of committees of the Harvest Festival was held at the home of Mrs. Till on Thursday evening, October 25. Final plans were made for the successful opening of the Festival and very encouraging reports were made by all present.

A final rally of the Y. M. and Talmud Torah Festival workers was held in the "Y" Building on Thursday evening, November 1. A prize will be given to the person selling the most tickets.

Dear Boys and Girls:

Last call for this contest. You've just exactly two more weeks to send in your entries, as the prize winners will be announced on November 9. Remember there will be a prize for the best story, letter or poem contributed. Let's have your contributions right away. All stories, poems, letters, riddles and jokes are to be mailed to Cousin Judith or Cousin David, 319 Bay Street, Toronto, Ont. And remember . . . prizes will be awarded on November 9. Which means, that there is no time to lose!

Cousin Judith.

Dear Girls and Boys:

'Member that little jingle about a "merry heart goes all the way; a sad tires in a mile-a"? 'Course we all know what a tremendous diff. there is betwixt and between anything that's said or done or given with a smile, and the self-same thing minus the cheery grin. There is a chilliness about a gift that's given ungraciously, or a charitable deed that is performed insincerely. Whereas the very simplest of kindnesses become trebly dear when they are prompted by a warm heart. I suppose you're thinking, "Well, what's all this got to do with us? . . ." To which I do make reply, "Just this." Try doing algebra with a grin; make a game of geometry; smile like a Cheshire cat when you do the dishes; and when it comes to mending your gloves—pretend that you're in the Laughing Gallery. And if you do anything for anybody, anywhere, at anytime, do it as though you were glad to do it; or don't do it at all! Because of all the horrid things, there is nothing so ugly as ungraciousness or meanness. Not very long ago I read a story about the inhabitants of a little French village. Every year as a certain festival approached, each villager was expected to bring a jar of his own wine and pour it into a huge barrel that stood in the square. One man, who was called Jean, said to his wife, "There is so much wine in the barrel. They will never know if I pour a jar of water instead of red wine into it." So, he went stealthily and poured into the huge barrel a pitcher of water. And lo! when they came to tap the barrel, they found only water.

Cousin David.

Well, I got Abe's puzzle, and I wonder if he will get my simple puzzle.

Please Mr. Printer, I guess you can't print the long tail, so please put this note in its place.

One day while Maple Syrup and I were eating supper, I said, "Syrup, you'll have to take lessons on some musical instrument, so better make your choice now."

"Well," he declared, "I think I'll take the talking machine." However, after some arguing, it was decided that he would take piano lessons. The very next day I saw him on the street, pushing a cart in which was the piano. "Where are you going with that piano?" I yelled, getting as fierce as a rabbit. "To take my lesson," he answered softly.

I decided that Maple Syrup ought to have a tutor, so I hired one for him. One day his tutor said, "Syrup, I want you to use the word gruesome in a sentence."

"The man stopped shaving and grew some whiskers," was the prompt reply.

The tutor seeing that he had forgotten his grammar changed the subject to history. "In what year did William the Conqueror invade England?" he said.

"I don't know," replied Maple Syrup.

"Why, it was in the year 1066," said his teacher.

"Oh," said Maple Syrup, "I thought that was his telephone number."

Later in the evening I went to a movie, and when I came home I wrote the following poem on it,

A 1923 Romance

The villain grabbed the girl by the wrist
(That's old stuff);
Hero entered and hit 'im with his fist
(It's gettin' rough);
Hero hit him again, and he hissed
(He's had enough);
Girl and hero both kissed
(It ends up with love).

Au revoir,

Dear V.M.G.:

A limerick-maker (d'ye suppose I should have said a maker of limericks?) just walked into this office with a limerick. Which I read. And as I was reading it, he glanced over my shoulder at the letter which I was reading. It was Beano's letter, and he said, said he, "I am going to write a limerick about Beano. But only on condition that I am allowed to join the Club. A post-graduate honoured member as it were." 'Course I haven't promised to let this maker of limericks join our group. We'll leave it to the cousins all to decide. What say? . . . But I am publishing the Beano limerick. . . . Come again, V.M.G.

Your relative,

Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of forest, comfort of grass,

Shadow of clouds that swiftly pass,
And after showers,
The smell of flowers,
And of the good brown earth,
And, best of all, along the way friendship and mirth.

SONGS

'Most every time I try to sing,
There's some one sure to say,
"Poor child! you cannot keep the key,
Now, that will do to-day."

I hide my head, I'm so ashamed,
Why can't I keep the key?
I love to sing and all my songs
Sound right enough to me.

Then mother kisses both my cheeks,
And whispers very low,
"Down in your little heart you sing
The sweetest songs I know."

And then I feel so glad, I just Can't think of anything,
But run away all by myself,
And sing and sing and sing.

KOSHER AND TREPHA

The local Yiddish paper has for several days been carrying two advertisements, one directly above the other, which deliberately contradict one another. The one informs the Jewish public that two orthodox rabbis of long residence in the city declare that the kashruth of the meat products of a certain factory, which shall remain nameless in this editorial, is not to be relied upon. The other advertisement, appealing to the same orthodox Jewish public, states that another Orthodox rabbi of recent residence in the city, declares that the supervision of kashruth of the said factory is under his jurisdiction and that he guarantees that its products are absolutely kosher. Not so long ago a group of Orthodox rabbis in this city declared the shechitah of certain schochetim to be invalid whilst the other Orthodox rabbi who delights, it would appear, to be contrary declared the shechita of these schochtim as valid.

Similar situations are constantly arising in almost every good-sized Jewish community where there are several Orthodox rabbis. In this constant bickering over kosher and trepha is to be found much of the tragedy of Orthodoxy, particularly in America.

It must be apparent even to the most unsophisticated layman that the same products can not be both kosher and trepha at the same time. They are either one or the other. In any event one or the other of the rabbinical parties is remiss. If it were a matter involving judgment on some abstract, abstruse question we could appreciate there being room for difference of opinion. The matters involving kosher and trepha are purely ritual in character and adequately covered in the authoritative and recognized codes of Jewish law. Why then this constant irritation?

As one probes under the surface, it becomes apparent that the real difference is not a matter so much of ritual law as it is a matter of competition between orthodox rabbis. This competition is ofttimes generated by economic motives, and at other times by a desire on the part of one rabbi to pose as the chief rabbi and thereby control the whole situation. If he is fortunate enough to put himself over as chief rabbi as it were, he succeeds in securing for himself a position of power which places all the other rabbis at his mercy, and gives control over a large source of income.

It ought to be established once and for all that in a country like Canada or the United States, where each congregation is autonomous, no one rabbi has the right to assume the role of chief rabbi unless the congregations voluntarily federate as they did in England and [illegible] were the chief rabbi. In any event the situation of one rabbi declaring as kosher what the other rabbi has declared to be trepha or vice versa makes a farce of religion and should be stopped. We suggest that this could be avoided if the Orthodox rabbis were all placed on a sufficient economic basis so that at least this motive, which is a source of great irritation, be eliminated. Then the kosher situation could be controlled through all the orthodox rabbis operating as a unit under a committee of laymen, representative of the Orthodox congregations in the community.

The matter is sufficiently serious to warrant the careful attention of the Orthodox laity in every community. This situation of rabbis proceeding to annul one another's authority in ritual matters makes religion a laughing stock in the eyes of our people, particularly our young growing generation. It disgusts them with Orthodoxy and drives them from the synagogue. It leads them to believe that the emphasis in Judaism is being placed on the wrong element, namely ritual, instead of on the ethical and spiritual principles underlying the ritual practice. It is a pity that the oldef generation who regard themselves as Orthodox fail to realize the tragic consequences which follow from this haggling about kosher and trefa by our rabbis. It should and must be corrected.

GENUINE MUNIFICENCE

In the category of the higher virtues, as they are commonly known, charity ranks next to justice. Charity like its sister mercy blesses those who give and those who receive. It is, therefore, twice blessed. By the Jews, however, charity is classed in the same category with justice since its very name "zedakah" is derived from the Hebrew word "zedek" (justice). Our sages in commenting on the prophetic words, "Justice, justice shalt thou pursue," paraphrase it to read, "Charity, charity shalt thou pursue."

These thoughts come to mind when we learned of the munificent contribution which Sir Mortimer Davis of Montreal made to the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of that city which has just completed a drive for $200,000 to "Save the Federation." The annual subscription of Sir Mortimer is $20,000. In addition he has underwritten the total expenses of conducting the campaign which will amount to some $7,000. In an appeal which Sir Mortimer made to his fellow-Jews he said as follows: "To my mind, the man who gives of his time and his money, is more to be appreciated than the man who gives only of his money; time spent is gone forever, but money given by those who have plenty, is never missed. The man of small means who foregoes a pleasure, deprives himself or his family to give to charity, is the most deserving of credit, and is the real philanthropist."

Sir Mortimer Davis has shown by his generosity that he is a real Jew. His contribution speaks louder than a hundred sermons on Jewish charity. But Sir Mortimer is not the sort of a Jew who is clannish and narrow. Though he feels that the care of the Jewish poor is a matter of the Jews' special responsibility, he has demonstrated that broad humanitarianism which is the motive of all charity by also contributing $5,000 to the Protestant Federation of Community Service in Montreal. Charity to him has no barriers of race or religion.

Sir Mortimer Davis is undoubtedly the most charitable man in Canada today. We know of no single citizen of this Dominion whose annual contribution to a local Federation of Philanthropies or to any local institution equals his. We are not referring to a grant. There are innumerable instances where people have contributed a sum of equal or even greater size to some charitable cause or educational institution in which they are interested, but what we here have reference to is an annual subscription. Sir Mortimer Davis in the face of business depression from which he undoubtedly, likeothers,suffered, increased his subscription from $15,000 to $20,000 per year. We know of only two other Jews, Mr. Felix Warburg of New York, and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago, whose annual contribution to the local Federation of Charities is larger than Sir Mortimer's. But then they are wealthier men and the cities they live in are larger and its charitable needs are greater.

It will be said that Sir Mortimer is one of Canada's wealthiest citizens and therefore much is expected of him. To be sure! But what others of moderate wealth should ask themselves, is this: Are they giving in proportion to their capital and income, and, what is even of greater import, are they giving in relation to the actual needs of the Jewish poor?

Most Federations are unfortunately in the position of having to operate with an inadequate budget. They are compelled to

This means that the poor are the sufferers at the hands of the niggardliness of the rich and the near-rich.

We are not in the habit of singling out individuals for special praise, when all that can be said for them is that they have merely done their duty. We are certain that in giving what he has, Sir Mortimer feels that he is merely doing his duty, and wishes he could do more. Giving is a matter of habit. Most people could actually afford to give more if they could only acquire the habit of giving without feeling pain. Sir Mortimer has acquired the habit of giving generously, and we trust that in time he will even give more. We single out Sir Mortimer for special praise because he sets the example of true munificence which both Jew and non-Jew would do well to emulate. He exemplifies the principle so highly esteemed in Judaism that charity and justice are synonymous.

"Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without rancour
That for what it cost me to be free
I might have had an anchor."

President Coolidge added one more empty utterance to the pleasantries of presidents et al. when he advised the American Jewish Congress that during his administration there would be no toleration by him of anti-Jewish immigration legislation. Now, had Coolidge expressed his personal grief at the conscienceless trend of the day to limit immigration, that much might have been sufficient to lull the Congress and at the same time keep him within the bounds of truth, but when a president of the United States made the wide sweep he did we must believe either that wicked legislators keep him ignorant of what they are doing or that he himself thinks he is more powerful than the forces about him that is, more powerful than presidents get to be. However, we grant that Mr. Coolidge did the best he could by the American Jewish Congress, probably by telling it what it wanted to hear and if the result didn't mean anything, at least, as Rube Goldberg would say, it sounded nice.

Meantime we have Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, publicly demanding at Klan Day at the Texas State Fair that Jews and Catholics be barred from the United States because the Jews are unassimilable and the Catholics illiterate. It is beside the point that Jews are complaining bitterly how their children forget their Jewishness in one generation in their haste to become one hundred per cent. Americans. Useless to oppose Dr. Evans' statement about the Catholics with a reminder that the Klan gets its members and support from the strongholds of illiteracy in America. What interests us Jews, those who want to come to America and those of us who want others to come, is the strength of an organization which openly preaches discrimination and how telling the effect of its votes can be on congressmen in favor of a stricter selective immigration policy.

The state of Georgia has nothing else to worry about except honoring the bones of its founder, General James Oglethorpe, by removing them from Cranham, England, where they have been these 138 years, to the city of Atlanta where it is proposed to erect a memorial. Either that or, one might suspect, Georgia would like to do something smashing to make the world forget its ignorance, lynchings and perhaps even its Leo Frank case which has bobbed up again in the confession of a negro who said just recently that another negro and not Frank murdered the factory girl for whose killing Frank was lynched in 1913.

Georgia, with its odious Ku Klux Klan, is hardly less dark to-day than it was when Leo Frank's pitiful voice was raised to declare that some day his innocence would be established. Then its citizens were led by a small, scurrilous paper edited by Tom Watson and they still refuse to hear the exhortations of such an orderly newspaper as the Atlanta Constitution so they are pretty much the same notwithstanding their intended action with regard to General Oglethorpe's remains.

If Georgia could converse with Oglethorpe, quite likely he would prefer to stay in the parish churchyard at Cranham than to be moved to Georgia, such a place as he never thought it would become even in 138 years. It would be far gentler, if Georgia wants to do something grand, to leave him alone and nstead of encumbering the ground about him with marble, begin to root out in his honor the forces of darkness and evil that make the state a plague.

WEDDINGS

Greenberg-Shragge

The Shaarey Zedek Synagogue, decorated with a profusion of yellow and white chrysanthemums and ferns, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Rita Shragge to Mr. Abraham L. Greenberg, of Los Angeles, Cal., which took place October 17, at 12.30 o'clock noon. Rev. Herbert J. Samuels officiated, assisted by Cantor Wolfe Linder. The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shragge, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of old Spanish lace over crepe de Paris. The long draped skirt fell in cascades at each side of the front over a three-tier panel and was caught with a diamond ornament. The Victorian bodice was in basque effect and had a draped fichu caught at the waist line with orange blossoms. The Egyptian veil fell in long folds. Her bouquet was of orchids and lilies-of-the-valley, with a holder shield of Spanish lace.

The matron of honour, Mrs. A. Coppelman, sister of the bride, chose a model in silver brocade, artistically draped and caught at the back in bustle effect with a handsome ornament. The sash train was of French blue and French crepe de luxe. Her hat was a model of cream lace, and she carried a sheaf of sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids were cousins of the bride, Miss Freda Rosner and Miss Yetta Tritt. The former chose a gown of salmon pink, moire, combined with brown lace. She wore a hat to match her dress made in poke effect and carried a Victorian bouquet of sweetheart roses. Miss Tritt wore a gown of blue brocaded taffeta with lace to match. Her hat was of silver cloth in poke effect. She also carried a Victorian bouquet of sweetheart roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. D. Greenberg, of Omaha, Neb. The ushers were Mr. Samuel S. Shragge, Dr. Gerald Shragge and Mr. A. Milder, of Omaha. The bride's mother wore a handsome gown of soft grey crepe, interwoven with motifs of brocade. It was caught cut steel. Her hat was of violet velvet, and she carried a spray of violets and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Greenberg, mother of the groom, wore black Romaine crepe, black hat with osprey mount, and wore a corsage of American beauties.

Just before the bridal procession entered the synagogue, Miss Eva Israel sang, "O Promise Me." Immediately after the ceremony a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenberg left on the 4.45 train for Sioux City, Omaha, Topeka, San Francisco and Los Angeles, where they plan to make their home.

The bride travelled in a "Berthe" model of jacquard roulette in grey, with platinum fox collar and cuffs. Her model hat of grey velvet was a mass of embroidery in dull silver with touches of tangerine. She carried a squirrel cape, the gift of her parents. The out-of-town guests were: Mrs. F. Greenberg, Mr. and Mrs. D. Greenberg, Mr. Abe Milder, of Omaha, Neb.; Mrs. A. J. Freiman and Miss Dorothy Freiman, Ottawa, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Shragge, Kenora, Ont.

Labovich--Josephs

The wedding of Ruth Josephs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Josephs, 76 Higgins Avenue, to Abbe Labovich, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Labovich, 424 Pritchard Avenue, took place Sunday at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. M. L. Marcovich. The bride wore a becoming French imported gown of georgette, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. The bride was attended by Miss Elizabeth Averbook as maid of honour. Miss B. Richmond was bridesmaid. Miss Bella Marcovich and Jessie Labovich were flower girls and the groom was attended by his brother, Peter Labovich. After the ceremony a reception was held. The bride's travelling dress was of black canton crepe, with a hat of grey duvetyn and a baby grey lamb jacquete.

WIDOW OF LATE RABBI JACOBS DIES

The high esteem in which the Jews of Toronto held Mrs. Edith Jacobs (widow of the late Rabbi Solomon Jacobs of the Holy Blossom Synagog), who succumbed at the Toronto General Hospital after a month's illnes was evidenced Sunday, when hundreds more than the Synagogue could accommodate turned out to pay tribute to her at the funeral services held at Holy Blossom. The bier was covered with floral tributes. Rabbi Brickner conducted the ceremonies and in his eulogy, he told of the earnest work of Mrs. Jacobs in aiding Jewish working girls, which resulted in the founding of the Jewish Girls' Club and its now splendid club-rooms in the Community House.

"Mrs. Jacobs set a standard that most of us will look to and will make us endeavor to measure our lives by her, because she leaves a memory and example of life tha we shall long cherish. To know Mrs. Jacobs was to know a noble woman," said Rabbi Brickner.

Mrs. Jacobs was associated in the philanthropical field because o her sincere and enthusiasti work in the religious and social work of the city. She was vice-president of the Council of Jewish Women, secretary of the Temple Sisterhood, first vice-president of the local Council of Women and vice-president of the Big Sister Movement.

Mrs. Jacobs was born in Birmingham, England, and has been a resident in Toronto for the past twenty-two years. The deceased is survived by her daughters, Ray and Lisa, and son, Arthur.

Following the service the long cortege left for Pape Avenue cemetery where the body was interred. The pallbearers were: Messrs. N. L. Nathanson, Leo Frankel, William Goldstein, J. Eisman, S. Lorie, Arthur Cohen, H. M. Samuel and Charles Draimin.

It Holds Good Now

By Dr. George J. Saylin
in the California Jewish Review

What Mark Twain said about the Jews:

"His (the Jew's) contribution to the world's list of great names in literature, science, art, music, finance, medicine and abstruse learning are also away out of proportion to the weakness of his numbers. He has made a marvelous fight in this world, in all the ages; and has done it with his hands tied behind him. He could be vain of himself and be excused for it."

What Burton J. Hendricks said about the Jews:

"If there is one thing Jews have proven in their age-old wanderings, it is the lack of power, co-operation, inability, vandalism. * * * The Jewish mind lacks two faculties: creativity and ability to organize. Individualism passed out of American life a century ago. The wonder is not that the Jew has accomplished so much, but that he has accomplished so little."

It remains for the writer to crave forgiveness of the spirit of the great American humourist for linking his illustrious name and memory with that of Burton J. Hendricks. It was done reluctantly, yet for a purpose which the great American bard would surely approve if he were alive.

Were he alive he would be the first to raise his voice in condemnation of prostitution in journalism. For is there anything so contemptible and vile as for pay to denounce and slander a whole people? The most bloodthirty brutes of darkest Russia, who would take savage delight in the shedding of Jewish blood, did not stoop so low as to commercialize their fiendish instincts. On the contrary, when their lust for Jewish blood became strong, they were only too willing to spend money—for the forgery of "protocols" and the bribing of judges and juries—in order to prepare the arena for the slaughter of innocent Jewish lives.

In that respect they were far above the Hendrickses, the Madison Grants, or the Osborns, who not only accepted pay for their dirty work, but did so under the guise of legitimate journalism. That it was based upon flimsy premise or that it was at least speculative they must have known deep in their hearts; yet that did not deter them in most dogmatic fashion to register indelibly an indictment of the Jewish people at a time when tens of thousands of them have died by the assassins' hands for no other reason than that they were Jews.

That such prostitution in journalism is not likely to lead to pogroms in this country is not the fault of the authors, although a translation of Henry Ford's vicious conglomeration of anti-Semitic material undoubtedly contributed in the incitement of pogroms in Hungary and Roumania. What artistry in the field of cruelty a translation of Burton J. Hendricks' work may evoke in the pogrom countries of Europe, God only knows. But even if by chance of fate their hands remain clear of innocent Jewish blood, and even if all that Hendricks said about the Polish Jew be true, if through the direct or indirect influence of his book but one Polish Jewish woman be refused a position for an honourable livelihood because of her birth, and if thereby she be driven to a life of the street her disgrace, her shame if it could be measured by degrees, would be far beneath that of a particular group of journalists who, for the jingle of gold, did not hesitate to prostitute their noble profession, and thereby

JEWISH BANKERS GIVE FOR EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS

New York (J.T.A.)—Among the first contributors to the relief fund for the stricken earthquake victims of Japan were Kuhn, Loeb and Company, which subscribed $25,000 and, J. & W. Seligman Company, which gave $5,000.

Among the Americans of whom nothing has been heard since the catastrophe are B. W. Fleisher, publisher of the Japan "Advertiser" and his family. The plant of the paper in Tokio was completely destroyed.

POLISH ORGAN WANTS JEWS TREATED AS ALIENS

Warsaw (J.T.A.)—The withdrawal of all political rights from Jews and the treatment of all Jews as aliens is urged by the anti-Semitic and influential Polish organ, "Dwa Grosze."

This Jew-baiting organ declares that the minority and constitutional guarantees cannot stand in the way of such a step, as the Jews themselves consider themselves members of a separate community and at present, it contends, profess a double allegiance, which is untenable.

ZIONISTS CLOSE POPULAR SCHOOL TO PARE EXPENSES

Jerusalem (J.T.A.)—The need of cutting down expenses has impelled the Zionist Organization to close the Arab-Jewish school at Tiberias.

The school was held in high esteem by Arabs as well as Jews, as it made it one of its purposes to promote friendly relations between the two races.

CATHOLICS OPPOSE SPENDING MONEY FOR JEWISH CONVERTS

Berlin (J.T.A.)—Jews who desire to make easy their path to life by adopting Christianity will no longer be able to do so, if a movement started by a Catholic faction in Kiel is successful.

This group is opposing the collection of money by the Konsistorium for a Jewish mission. "You can't de-Judaize a man by religion, as Jewishness is more than faith, they contend, and a baptized Jew remains one, "internally."

END WAR BY SEIZING "FIFTY JEWISH FINANCIERS" IS FORD'S ADVICE

Montreal (J.T.A.).—Henry Ford, Ku Klux favourite for President, is apparently out for more free advertising.

In a statement to Montreal reporters to-day, Ford declared that the League of Nations as an instrument for the prevention of war is useless and that the only way to get world peace would be to "get the fifty leading Jewish financiers of the world together and render their manipulations of money impossible.

"In no other way can peace be established" Ford said. "As soon as the world awakes and finds them out and acts, then we will have peace. It is such financiers that cause war. They operate for profit and gain for themselves. Let us hope for action soon."

Ford characterized Wall Street as a "Jewish Mecca," and dismissed the subject with "You know what that means."

Newspapermen who saw him say Ford looked very gaunt, but none of them would say whether his physical condition had affected his mind.

YOM KIPPUR OPENING CAUSES ARREST OF TWELVE

Warsaw (J.T.A.).—Twelve Jews are under arrest here as the result of a disturbance which followed the action of the Jewish labour cooperative store keeping its place open for "business as usual" on Yom Kippur.

Observant Jews gathered about the place protesting the sacrilege. The situation became somewhat threatening and the police arrested a number of those gathered at the shop.

Shortly after the arrests were made the Jewish co-operative capitulated to the religious sentiments of the community and closed its doors.

CHARGED WITH "INFORMING" DURING GERMAN OCCUPATION

Warsaw (J.T.A.).—Four Jewish men and women have been arrested for a crime alleged by the anti-Semitic press to have been committed during the German occupation period.

These Jews, it is charged, living in the township of Jesow, Brzezin district, informed the Germans of the Poles who had stolen a German military automobile and sold it to the Russians. As a result of this information, they charge, one [illegible] was executed by the Germans and a number imprisoned.

The anti-Semitic press does not account for the [illegible] was such delay in filing the [illegible] are true. Meanwhile, much is [illegible] the "treason" of the Jews.

ROUMANIAN ANTI-SEMITES CHANGE PLACE OF MEETING

Government Bans One Place, Jew-Baiters Select Another

Bucharest (J.T.A.).—The congress of anti-Semites originally scheduled to be held in Czernowitz, but which was forbidden by the government from convening there, will be held at Kimpolung, Bukowina, instead.

Announcement of the new place of meeting of the Jew-baiters was made by Professor Cuza, the leader of the agitators, immediately following the government's decree forbidding the gathering in Czernowitz.

Bukowina Jews are sharply protesting against the meeting in their territory, and have sent a deputation to Bucharest to lay their protests before the government.

The anti-Semites are boasting that they count 8,000 soldiers among their members, and the feeling among the Jews is that the meeting of the anti-Semites will hardly end without disturbances.

Although the government quickly put an end to the anti-Semites' hopes of meeting in Czernowitz, it seems to be going very slowly about taking any steps to forbid the same gathering in Bukowina.

Moscow (J.T.A.).—There has been a 25 per cent. gain in the number of Jews working the soil in Russia since the revolution, according to figures just published at the All-Russian Husbandry Exhibition being held here.

The resolution which is printed in the Arab organ "Philistine" calls on all Arabs to unite in battling for a completely independent Syrian government.

COMMUNIST RAPPAPORT'S DAUGHTER SHOT BY A WRANGEL OFFICER

Paris (J.T.A.).—Fanny Rappaport, daughter of Charles Rappaport, Communist leader of France, and called by Jaures the wittiest Frenchman since Voltaire, was shot and possibly fatally wounded by a former officer of General Wrangel's army.

The officer, whose name is Katzenelson and is believed to be an apostate, called at the Rappaport home and asked to see the Communist leader.

When informed by Mlle. Rappaport that her father was out and asked if there was any message, Katzenelson replied, "So you're his daughter!" Whereupon he drew a revolver and shot the young woman. Leaving her at her door, he went to the nearest police station and surrendered himself.

Katzenelson has been long unemployed. Lately he had been working in Paris as a cleaner, and is believed to have been nursing a grievance against Communists.

Mlle. Rappaport was removed to a hospital where it was later said some hope is entertained for her recovery. Her mother was killed not long ago in a railway accident.

Fanny Rappaport is twenty-two years old, and was in her senior year at medical school. Her father is a native of Vilna. He has been living in Paris for over a quarter of a century, and is considered a foremost leader of the French Communists.

For a long time Rappaport [illegible] fought Communism, but a visit to Russia [illegible] Rappaport was absent during the shooting of his daughter, being in Strassburg where he is seeking to establish a Communist German-language daily.

"WORLD JEWRY" RESPONSIBLE FOR KAISER'S EXILE, MONARCHISTS CHARGE

Berlin (J.T.A.).—Jews are responsible for the fact that Kaiser Wilhelm is now sawing wood at Doorn instead of ruling Germany, according to antisemitic literature which is being widely distributed throughout Bavaria.

The charge is made in a brochure giving the formal creed of the monarchists and "nationalpatriots."

One of the articles of the anti-Semitic confession of faith reads: "The objective of the international Jewish movement is to throttle Germany."

An excerpt from the article relating to the Jews' effect on the German royal house declares: "The government of the Kaiser which served as the main rallying point against Jewish power was destroyed by Jews in order that they might attain their goal of world domination."

VISIT OF ARAB DELEGATION TO UNITED STATES CALLED OFF

Secretary Have Can't Explain Change of Plan

London (J.T.A.).—The Arab Delegation which had planned to visit America, to arouse public sentiment there in behalf of its anti-Zionist aims, has left for Palestine instead.

The delegation on arrival will publish a proclamation explaining the results of its London mission.

It is felt here that the visit of the delegation was a flat failure. Curiosity is there felt as to how the delegation will account for its refusal at the hands of the British government, and anticipation is particularly keen as to how it will explain the refusal of the cabinet commission to give it a hearing.

Shibley Jemal, Secretary of the Arab delegation who has been in New York for some time in connection with the raising of the $3,000,000 fund for the "preservation of the sacred Christian places in Palestine" told the New York representative of the J.T.A. that he did not know why the Arab delegation changed its original plan to visit America.

Mr. Jemal, a Christian, declared that at present he was dissociated from Arab politics, and that he was here purely as the representative of the Anglican Church in Jerusalem on the Anglican committee for the preservation of the sacred places in the Holy Land.

ROUMANIAN JEWISH EDITOR FATALLY WOUNDED BY FASCISTI

Wholesale Assassination Plot Disclosed

Bucharest (J.T.A.).—The editor of the Roumanian paper "Adverul," Rosenthal, was attacked and mortally wounded by a Fascist named Baciogiu, while standing at the Hotel Boulevard.

Rosenthal was removed to a hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain. He is not expected to live.

Baciogiu told the police that he had attacked Rosenthal because the editor had charged in his paper that Baciogiu's sister was the Roumanian intermediary for the Italian Fascisti.

According to the police, the attack on Rosenthal was part of a general plot of wholesale assassinations concocted by the Roumanian Fascisti. Codreanu, one of the Fascisti leaders held in connection with the murder plot has admitted to the police that the list of victims slated for assassination beginning with Rosenthal included Fliderman, the Ministers Banu, Florescu, Constantinescu and Marcovi.

IOWAN NAMED JERUSALEM CONSUL; OTHER CHANGES ANNOUNCED

Washington (J.T.A.).—Oscar S. Heizer of Iowa, now detailed to Constantinople, has been assigned as Consul of Jerusalem, the State Department announced today.

Other changes announced include the assignment of Maurice W. Altaffer of Ohio, as vice-consul at Frankfort. S. Bertrand Jacobson of New York, now detailed to Alexandria, has been ordered back to the United States.

"DAILY EXPRESS" ASSAILS ZIONISTS, BALFOUR AND CECIL

London (J.T.A.).—The anti-Zionist London "Daily Express" in a recent issue bitterly denounces jointly the Zionists, Lord Balfour and Lord Cecil. The entire Cecil family is violently condemned.

Lord Balfour, it declares, pulled Britain into the Zionist morass and Lord Robert Cecil, Balfour's nephew, is responsible for having ensnared England into the League of Nations, which it decries as a curse.
